Ask the Motor Medics®

Automotive Advice from The Under the Hood® Show

Dear Motor Medics,

We're getting ready to send our daughter to college and are shopping for a car that will get her through the next four years. We don't know what we are going to choose but it will likely be 3-4 years old and probably out of warranty or very near it. We know that we will take care of the car we buy but how can we be sure it was taken care of before we bought it? We have heard of vehicle history reporting agencies that can do background checks, but we don't know how they work or what they cover. What do you suggest when purchasing a used car that will help us the most?

Connie in Henderson Texas

Dear Connie,

Purchasing a used car can be a fun experience if it turns out to be what you expect, but It can be hard to tell how the car was treated before you owned it. I would strongly recommend that you don't purchase a vehicle without having an independent source inspect it. Take it to the mechanic you trust and give it a good check, this can often catch things that would cost you a lot of money. When I purchase a car, I always use a vehicle history reporting agency to give me more insight as to the cars past. While these agencies have some good reports, they are not complete maintenance records so never go without an independent inspection.

Take care, the Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

I may have a ghost? I have one in my 1999 Caravan. When I'm driving it does things by itself like honk the horn, the cruise will just shut off by itself, and the air bag light will come on and then go back off. There's no pattern to this but it seems to happen at the worst times. I was driving through a parking lot, and everyone thought I was honking at them. Once my horn started honking by itself at 2am and woke up my neighbors. Can you help me bust this ghost?

Clarence in Sheldon Iowa

Dear Clarence,

Ghosts scare me so you're on your own! Kidding aside, I think I can help and maybe with a free repair. The first thing I would have you do is to contact your local Dodge dealer and give them your vehicle identification number found at the base of the windshield on the driver's side. Ask them if there is a clock spring recall on your van. If there is one that has not been done, then the repair may be free. If not, you'll have to pay for the repair, but it is likely what's causing the problems you are describing. The clock spring is what makes the connection between the steering wheel electronics and the column. When you turn the wheel, the wires coil up and with age can break or short causing your issues. Hopefully this busts your ghost.

Take care, the Motor Medics
