Ask the Motor Medics®

Automotive Advice from The Under the Hood® Show

Dear Motor Medics,

I have been watching as cars and the car market is changing. With the move towards cars without internal combustion engines and cars that drive themselves I find myself a bit overwhelmed and wondering where this will all go. I live in town now and have a 10 mile commute each way and am thinking about an electric car. If I get one it will be my only vehicle and wonder what I will do about power if I want to travel across the state or country for that matter.

Thank you, Tim, in Onida South Dakota

Dear Tim,

As the number of electric cars on the road grow so will the number of places to recharge them just as when the first gasoline vehicles appeared on the scene. In 1905 there wasn't a gas station on every corner, but it didn't take long for them to appear to meet demand. Supply will always meet demand so eventually you will be able to recharge a car at almost any exit but for now you will need to plan trips accordingly so you can make sure that you have a place to recharge. When shopping for that vehicle make sure you choose one with enough battery life for the driving you think you will be doing as well. Electric cars can vary in range from a couple hundred miles on a charge to more than double that range but the longer the range the more it will cost.

Take care, The Motor Medics

Dear Motor Medics,

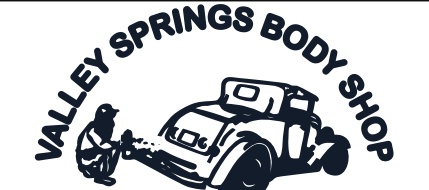

Autonomous cars are talked about everywhere and being an old school guy I'm nervous about them. I don't know if I will ever get in a car and ride along as the car itself does all the driving. How can one of these cars be safe? What kind of things are used to navigate the car and what decides how it will react in dangerous situations?

Thank you, Sam in Dallas Texas

Dear Sam,

Welcome to the future! When we first saw a driverless car, we were amazed and afraid. The thought of how they were controlled was on our minds. As technology has grown so have the safety features of how they operate. The cars use things like GPS, radar, Inferred and other heat sensing technology as well as perimeter sensing devices to name a few of the many things that keep the car on a straight path. the computers in the cars can also talk to some of the other cars that are connected as well. Some of the technology is very impressive and the cars can in some cases even see better than a driver can in certain situations. A computer always monitors everything everywhere where we can only see one direction. In theory the driverless car should be safer than one that has a human driver alone but... We wonder what will happen when the car must decide what to hit in an eminent crash situation.

Take care, The Motor Medics

Coming in tomorrow's

BRANDON VALLEY Journal

The Lynx football and volleyball teams are the last two programs that are in action in the fall season, and we've got reports on both. The football team continues its run in the post-season, coming away with a "W" in the 11AAA state quarterfinals, while the volleyball team fended off the Harrisburg Tigers in a five-set match.

Plus, Tom A. Savage takes an inside look at the football team's offensive line and their "silent" role in the program's success thus far.

BVHS senior Gia Elumbaring was injured in an accident that took the lives of two her co-workers last May. Elumbaring shares her journey through rehabilitation and how she's moving forward to enjoy her senior year and plan her future.

We'll also you bring you a report from Monday night's city council meeting in Brandon and will explain the redistricting process now taking place in Pierre and what it means for Brandon and Valley Springs residents.

Dave Baumeister brings you the latest news from the Minnehaha County Commission and Jill Meier gives you the details from last week's Brandon Valley Board of Education meeting.

Relocating her business to a larger space has been a game-changer for Jenna Duarte and her business, Catori. Find out how her business and services have expanded since her move last year in the midst of a pandemic.

Also included in this week's Brandon Valley Journal is our fall home and garden special section, which includes the third story in our "Fathers & Sons" series. This week, the spotlight is on Stan and Rob Schoeneman and their third-generation family business, Schoeneman Construction.

Communicate with the city

City of Brandon utilizes a text messaging service to keep the public in the know. To sign up for this service, text "Brandon" to 33222 for notification of snow alerts, water conservation alerts, water main breaks, street closures, etc.

Text "Brandonpool" to 33222 for pool opening and closing dates, closures due to weather, etc.

When registering, auto correct tends to add a space. Subscribers to this service will receive a return message saying, "Welcome to..."

To register, type 33222 in the text message as the number and then type the "Keyword" above in the message line of the text, just the word not the quotations. Residents will need to subscribe to each one for notifications of all three, and may opt out at any time.

BUSINESS SPOTLIGHT

BRANDON AREA FOOD PANTRY

feeding our neighbors in need

Dear Friends, Neighbors, and Supporters:

While many food pantries had to close their doors last year due to the pandemic, Brandon Area Food Pantry stayed open and continued feeding the people in our community that are struggling with food insecurity. Brandon Area Food Pantry's ability to serve hungry families and individuals is directly due to the generosity of friends and neighbors like you.

Families shouldn't have to go hungry when there are dedicated people like you in the community ready and willing to help.

That is why we are asking that you continue your generosity and consider a donation to the Brandon Area Food Pantry.

Your donation helps to provide grocery necessities that help our neighbors in need make it through some of their toughest times.

At the Brandon Area Food Pantry, we're so grateful for the community that has funded, volunteered, celebrated, and advocated for us. Thank you for being a part of our mission to make sure none of our neighbors in need goes hungry.

We wish you and your family health, safety, and happiness.

Sincerely,
Linda Weber, Director
Brandon Area Food Pantry

We would be grateful if you helped us out by sharing this message with family and friends or posting it on your social media. During these extremely challenging times, our neighbors that are struggling with food insecurity need us, and we need you.
